"I would highly recommend Kevin Burch and his team at Questpro to find a qualified candidate for the insurance industry. Kevin and his team came through for us when no one else could. What impressed me the most was our first call. Kevin asked me detailed questions about our positions and company when no other company had taken that much of an interest in us. Rather than just send candidates our way without understanding our business and our culture, he took the time to find the right candidates the first time. Questpro was able to deliver a qualified pool of candidates and not just one or two. In addition, they are always very responsive. We have had many successes together and I look forward to many more." - Janine, HR Manager Regional Insurance Carrier
